TWO DECADES AGO

A volunteer coach at a local youth serving organization repeatedly sexually abused a 9-year-old boy enrolled in one of its programs. Frustrated and angry, board members demanded to know what could be done to prevent such a terrible tragedy from happening again.

To find the answer, Praesidium completed an exhaustive review of the scientific literature, only to discover that not much was known about the prevention of abuse in organizations. Most of the research focused on psychological testing to screen out potential offenders—but that doesn’t work.

TODAY

We know what works. We know how to prevent the sexual abuse of children and vulnerable adults by employees, volunteers, and other program participants.
BUT FIRST, THE FACTS

Nearly 9.6% of students targets of educator sexual misconduct sometime during their school career.

IMPACT ON VICTIMS

A single incident of sexual abuse can change a child’s life forever. A once-happy child may become angry all the time or physically aggressive. Stop doing school work. Withdraw from the family. Take drugs. Act out sexually. Become depressed, maybe even suicidal. And without help, the downward spiral may continue for a lifetime.

IMPACT ON ORGANIZATIONS

An incident or allegation of abuse can bring an organization to its knees. Employees question themselves, “What went wrong? How could such a terrible thing happen under their watch?” Parents worry that their child may not be safe. Then there's the media. And the police. And the investigations. And the lawsuits. And donors leaving. But none of this has to happen. You can prevent sexual abuse from happening in your organization.

The Praesidium Safety Equation®— the Foundation for all of our Work

Using current research and root cause analyses of thousands of cases of abuse across a diverse range of organizations, Praesidium has identified eight organizational operations that provide opportunities to decrease the risk of abuse by employees, volunteers, or other program participants. Together, these eight operations make up the Praesidium Safety Equation®.

The Eight Critical Organizational Operations

POLICIES
Policies define the bandwidth of acceptable behavior in an organization. When employees know and understand policies, they can report policy violations that may foretell abuse.

SCREENING AND SELECTION
Comprehensive screening and selection requires organizations to discover and consider everything they can about applicants, and to use what is known about how offenders operate to make thoughtful hiring decisions.

TRAINING
Effective abuse prevention training gives employees and volunteers the information and skills they need to keep those in their care safe. Training must be frequent, specific, and immediately useful on the job.

INTERNAL FEEDBACK SYSTEMS
Information about program operations, such as incident reports, client complaints, or external licensing violations, can identify high-risk programs or individuals.

CONSUMER PARTICIPATION
If consumers—adults and minors alike—know how to recognize suspicious or inappropriate interactions or policy violations, they can be a valuable part of the risk management team.

RESPONDING
How an organization responds to reports of suspicious or inappropriate interactions, policy violations, or suspected abuse can dramatically affect the harm to the individual and to the organization.

ADMINISTRATIVE PRACTICES
The board of directors must be well-informed of the risks the organization embraces and the operational practices in place to ensure the safety of those in care and the reputation of the organization.

LITIGATION SUPPORT
A stranger comes to your office with an unexpected delivery: a subpoena naming you in a lawsuit, charging your organization with responsibility for the sexual abuse of a child. Trust Praesidium to work with your legal team to identify the strengths and weaknesses of your case, a process that can make a difference in the outcome.

INCIDENT INVESTIGATIONS
You learn that an employee’s interactions with a child or vulnerable adult in your program are suspect. Or an anonymous caller leaves a message with details accusing a former employee of abuse. You’ve notified the authorities but they decline to investigate. What now? Let Praesidium’s investigative team uncover the truth. Are there gaps in your policies and procedures that nearly allowed something tragic to happen? Was a youth or vulnerable adult harmed? Praesidium’s incident investigations answer these questions and more, and help your organization map out a specific action plan.

PRAESIDIUM’S SCREENING AND SELECTION TOOLKIT
The most comprehensive package of its kind, our Screening and Selection Tool Kit comes complete with everything your organization needs to effectively screen employees and volunteers, including more than 80 “red flag” indicators for identifying high-risk applicants and hundreds of examples of high- and low-risk applicant responses.

CRISIS MANAGEMENT
If your organization is hit with an allegation of abuse, the media may be at your door, along with scared and angry parents, alarmed employees, concerned board members, and maybe even the police. You need answers, fast! This is where we can help. We provide whatever it takes, immediately, to manage the situation professionally and effectively.

COMPREHENSIVE BACKGROUND CHECKS
Your first line of defense against sexual offenders is to keep them out of your organization. But do you know if your checks are comprehensive? And with all the new government regulations, do you understand your legal obligations regarding how to respond to a check that shows a conviction? We not only provide a comprehensive check, but also we offer guidance and consultation about how to respond to results!

After presentations by Praesidium, our senior management were particularly interested in having Praesidium’s expert advice for incidents, response, and training. During implementation, our directors and employees are learning how to incorporate Praesidium’s Safety Equation® into their programs.
